y (people t-try to p-put us down)

break on through the generational divide.

carefully and awarely consider all life forms your friend by default, to help unload potential frustrations accumulated by growing up in increasingly unwitnessed and misunderstood solitude.

there are no clearer words explaining this than:
cherish and tend to your ever-present inner child, that you may follow eternal wisdom taught some two millennia ago...
(matthew 19:14, is it?)